ORIGIN AND OBJECTIVES

Origin And Objectives:

Origin and Objectives

Earth First was founded in Tucson, AZ, in 1981, to inspire others to carry out "monkeywrenching" activities to slow or disable man and machine's "rape of the earth," as they see it. It was also reported the group was formed in the Willamette Valley area of Oregon in the late 1970s. The group was militant and uncompromising whose philosophy was based on the ideal that an effort must be made to reduce the profit of private corporation and the government in order to save the environment. Members also protested the new timber sales in the northwest. (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) they claim to be law abiding and considered themselves to be a movement rather than an organization. They advised that they did not support or condone illegal or violent activities and ran a disclaimer in their newsletter which stated, "what an individual does autonomously was his or her own business".

Membership and Area of Operations

Earth First claimed approximately 10,000 people received their newsletter; however, it was believed they have about 50 members. Membership for the group in Oregon was divided in two areas of the state with exact numbers unknown. The group located in the southern part of the state was known to be more militant than the Portland group. Group activity noted in San Diego, CA; Oakland, CA; Denver, CO; Tucson, AZ; Phoenix, AZ; Idaho, Utah, Nevada, Washington, and Eugene, OR. The group produced a publication called "Earth First Journal."

CASE SUMMARY

Active since 1981, Earth First had been known to use monkeywrenching tactics in order to save the environment. Members had been involved in tree spiking with metal and ceramic spikes which has caused harm to loggers and sawmill workers. Group members also dumped cow manure on a bureaucrat's desk. There were numerous incidents in which members poured sand into crank cases of earth movers and bulldozers at development sites. Members chained themselves to a fence at corporate offices of developers and rounded up cattle to move them to private land for grazing.

Earth First was also known for cutting power lines and blowing up power stations to disrupt development companies. Some of their activities have moved from non-violent to violent activities causing personal injury. Members also attacked forest service personnel with knives and clubs for herbicide spraying.

In May 1983, the group held a demonstration at Lake Powell, AZ, to protest the policies of then Secretary of Interior, James Watts. There were about 70 demonstrators at this event which was a ceremony commemorating the 20th anniversary of Glen Canyon Dam. There were no arrests or civil disobedience at this ceremony, but Secretary Watts received a death threat prior to the event which was believed to have come from one of the protestors.

In March 1985, (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) published a book called "Ecodefense: A Field Guide to Monkeywrenching." This book was a guide in techniques on industrial sabotage, tree spiking, pole cutting and arson. In August 1985, an umbrella group known as "Grand Canyon Under Siege" was formed under the leadership of (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) They sponsored several demonstrations which have included acts of civil disobedience resulting in arrests. In addition, several acts of criminal damage have occurred relating to environmental equipment and trucks used in building road for logging operations. Also, ski lifts at the Arizona Snow Bowl were damaged twice by suspected members of Earth First.

in January 1988, Phoenix FO and (b)(7)(D) initiated an investigation which targeted several members of Earth First who were suspected of sabotage. It was noted that (b)(7)(D) was not investigating Earth First as a group, but rather individuals who claimed to be members of the group. There also seemed to be a loose coalition between Earth First, Green Peace and the Animal Liberation Front (ALF).

In May 1990, an explosive device detonated in a vehicle in Oakland, ca, which was occupied by (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) and (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) members of this group. Both victims claimed the bomb was planted. They had been residing at a known group commune in Berkeley, CA. during search of house a backpack was discovered which belonged to (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) A notebook was found in the backpack which contained innocuous writings concerning demonstrations and sending letters to congressmen. Also found was an ID for (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) which was considered to be another identity for (b)(6); (b)(7)(C); (b)(7)(D)

(b)(6); (b)(7)(C); (b)(7)(D)

Investigation revealed authorities believed (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) prepared the device and prematurely detonated it during transportation. They were charged with possession and transportation of an illegal device. Authorities believed this bomb incident was related to a device which malfunctioned in May 1990 at the Louisiana Lumbermill, Cloverdale, CA. The components of both devices were similar in construction. A week later, a letter was sent a Santa Rosa newspaper from "Lord Avenger" which claimed responsibility for the two bombings in May 1990. Based on details in the letter, (b)(7)(D) opined it was written by someone associated with the two incidents and written to be used as a potential defense for (b)(6); (b)(7)(C)

In August 1990, (b)(7)(D) advised (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) publicly denounced Earth First as being "too radical" in its methods and allegedly disassociated himself from the group. (b)(7)(D) did not believe (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) would ever completely separate himself from the group. Also that Earth First, as an organization, was in a state of disarray due to the upcoming criminal trials and the explosion in San Francisco. Case Closed.

In December 1993, Phoenix FO advised the group had been active in the Tucson, AZ, area where they had been protesting the building of a telescope on Mount Graham by the University of Arizona. Earth First had been involved in civil disobedience such as demonstrations and trespassing, but no criminal activity. It was also advised the group had its annual gathering during the last week of June 1993 at Mount Graham in protest of the telescope.

(b)(6); (b)(7)(C); (b)(7)(E)

In September 1996, Portland RO advised 50 projectiles (7mm bullets without casings) were found outside the magnetometers at a Clinton/Gore rally at Lownsale/Chapman Park in Portland. It was reported that an unknown female approached a Uniformed Division Officer and presented him a bullet that she claimed to have found near the magnetometers. She said there were approximately 50 additional bullets where she found the initial bullet. A search of that area did not reveal any additional bullets.

Information received indicated the group was possibly trying to infiltrate the rally with slingshots (wrist rockets); however, nothing was observed in the possession of any demonstrator.

(b)(7)(E)

According to the (b)(7)(D) 50 to 100 group members demonstrated at the rally. They were divided into two groups in different areas and displayed cloth banners protesting the cutting of trees in the northwest. There were no incidents of violence and the demonstration was described as passive in nature (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) Members of this group have referred to President Clinton as an "eco-thug" due to his signing a "salvage rider" bill which made logging legal in certain areas in order to get rid of diseased or damaged trees. This group felt this bill allowed timber companies to enter virgin forest areas for the purpose of this logging which they believe was destroying the ecosystem.
Case Closed, 10-04-96.

In July 1999, (b)(7)(D) reported that an IED was placed in the cab of a track-hoe at a new construction site in Cobb County, GA. The IED was comprised of a glass bottle containing gas with a model rocket motor wrapped in aluminum duct tape and inserted into the neck of the bottle. The device was rendered safe. The investigation revealed at least two individuals entered the construction site and wrote in black spray paint "Earth First" six times on various items.

In July 2005, (b)(7)(D) reported the Earth First journal asked its subscribers for money as the publication was near insolvency. Earth First admitted to affiliation with numerous subgroups across the country using the Earth First name and affiliation with ELF (b)(6); (b)(7)(C)

ORIGIN AND OBJECTIVES

Origin And Objectives:
The Ruckus Society was founded in late 1995 by (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) was a founder of Earth First! (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) the group which spun off the domestic terrorist Earth Liberation Front in 1992 (see (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) He also co-founded the radical Rainforest Action Network (RAN (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) built his extremist credentials as a front-line activist and ship captain with Greenpeace's French and Russian anti-nuclear campaigns. Ruckus received funding from liberal foundations.

Ruckus is engaged in training activists for major newsworthy protest events. It recruits, trains, transports, and houses militant activists. Some observers have even claimed that Ruckus paid protesters to show up in Seattle. Ruckus's primary training venues are the "action camps," which are weeklong boot camps for leftist protesters, usually held a few weeks prior to a major organized demonstration. A few hundred Ruckus recruits typically attend each camp, where they are trained in police confrontation strategies, street blockades, urban climbing & rappelling, using the media to your advantage, and learning to lock your head to something. Nearly half of Ruckus' roster of camp trainers proclaims membership in Earth First! as well.

Ruckus is opposed to capitalism, globalization, law enforcement, and military interventions.

CASE SUMMARY

The Ruckus Society trains militant activists in protest strategy and tactics, see the Origin and Objectives screen.

Ruckus has been associated with civil disturbances and acts of civil disobedience at the 1999 WTO meeting in Seattle (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) the IMF/WB 2000 spring meetings in Washington DC (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) the 2000 RNC in Philadelphia (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) the 2000 DNC in Los Angeles (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) and the IMF/WB 2001 annual meetings in Washington DC (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) There have been at least six other training camps in the US.

Ruckus Society staffers have been spotted by law enforcement in the middle of the civil disturbances giving on-the-record quotes to national media figures and providing strategic guidance to street organizers. (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) represented the protesters when the terms of their arrest were being negotiated with Seattle police after the WTO riots. The Ruckus Society is credited with organizing the Seattle WTO riots and (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) told the news media that, "We [Ruckus] kicked the WTO's butt all over the Northwest."

The Ruckus Society claims to support non-violence, however, encourages law breaking (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) has been arrested over 40 times, including at the 2000 RNC, where he was held on a $1 million bond. Police officers confiscated a variety of weapons from protesters at the scene of (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) arrest, including piano wire and gasoline-soaked rags tied to chains.

One of Ruckus' (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) trainer is (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) for Earth First!, and a longtime spokesperson for the (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) another violent (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) is a self-described anarchist with connections to violent anarchist protest events in the US and overseas. (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) another Ruckus camp trainer, has been linked to the (b)(6); (b)(7)(C) that attempted to disrupt the 2001 presidential inaugural in Washington, DC (b)(6); (b)(7)(C)

In July 2004, (b)(7)(D) provided information that the Ruckus was preparing activists to disrupt the 2004 RNC in New York (b)(6); (b)(7)(C)

In January 2005, (b)(7)(D) reported possible interest by al Qa'ida in anarchist movements, particularly anarchist training and manuals instructing on civil disobedience and confrontation with law enforcement. Some information indicates that unidentified Middle Easterners attended Ruckus training camps in Florida in 2003.
